What you think the growth of this town and the community means to you? Does it look like things are going to the dogs or that this town will soon be a city and that prices of real estate will advance in accordance? The parts of town that were in the suburbs a few years ago are now built up with comfortable residences and within a year or so what are now fields will be the same. ## MUCH SUFFERING CAUSED GETTING READY THROUGH ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

(Edmonton Bulletin.)

From one of the towns in the eastern part of the Province comes a heart-rending story of privation, in which the public seem to have some measure of responsibility. The father of a family living on a homestead, some distance from the town is in the guard room at Fort Assiniboia, charged with some of the duties of a soldier. The offence against the law, and has been there for some months. Reports go around in the neighborhood that the family are in hard circumstances. An officer who had been on the ground before the home and found the report correct to a distressing degree. The mother was ill and unable to look after the three little ones, ranging in age from ten months to four years. She and her children had suffered severely from want of food, and from the other hardships attending their conditions. The officer took the children in charge and sent them to Edmonton, where they are being accommodated in the Children's shelter. The mother was taken to a hospital, where it is hoped that careful attention will restore her to health. Whether the father when at liberty had provided and looked after his family is not stated in the communication to the Bulletin. Presumably he had done so, as the incident is not mentioned again in the Bulletin. The fact that the law for the sake of society has to take a broad-winged away from his family, and through the law should take means of preventing the family suffering want because of his absence. This woman and children had done no crime. Why then should they suffer because the husband and father was accused of having done so?

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR STETTLER SOON

Stettler, Alta., Feb. 12.—There is good prospect of Stettler Municipal electric light plant being in operation within the next few days. The generator has arrived this week and the man is here installing same. There are yet some small parts to come, but these will likely be here by the time they are needed. A large number of residences and business places have been wired for two or three months. The delay in getting the plant started has been in getting the generator which was shipped from Sweden and arrived about two months later than was expected. The town council has made liberal provision for the public lighting of the various streets and avenues of the town. The street lights are numerous and well distributed and when the current is turned on a transformation will take place. The electrical firms are very busy wiring private places.

BUILDING GAVE WAY

Edmonton, Feb. 12th.—The giving away of the corner of the front brick wall of a new building on First St., opposite Elizabeth Street this afternoon about 3:10 resulted in the death of one painter and probably a fatal injury of a second. Both men fell full length on their backs to the sharp cement sidewalk. The dead man, Harvey Sharp, struck the sidewalk on his face and the heap of bricks and the painter's head fell upon his head. He was instantly killed. The other man, Jack Winchester, a young married man, and it was thought this afternoon that he might have a fighting chance for his life. Sharp came from a work time ago from Peterboro, Ont.

he would like to be able to attend these meetings, but did the next best thing by reading the report in the Western Globe each week. By a very forcible though simple illustration, he showed that even though dis- armament of the nations came about, and thousands of men were thrown out of employment as a result, yet the stoppage of the waste of the people's money in this direction, would be a great saving to the different countries, and would entirely counteract what would at first appear as additional unemployment.

After an animated discussion in which Messrs. E. H. Morrison, C. F. Dameron and C. A. Pugh took part the meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

A social evening will be held next Monday evening under the auspices of the club. Everyone is heartily welcome.

A Dear Smoke

A man with a good sized jag took a room at the Temperance Hotel on night last week. A short time after he had retired a small, of burning smoke, pervaded the atmosphere of the surrounding rooms, and upon investigation by other guests it was discovered that he had gone to bed with a lighted cigarette in his mouth, and later had forgotten about it. The result was that the bed clothing had a good start towards a fire when discovered, and the man himself was almost suffocated. He was landed over to the police, and contributed $15 to the town treasury.

Hail Insurance

(Edmonton Bulletin.)
The farmers of the Province have been buying enough hail insurance to pay the claims for settlement and the expenses of management. As a result the Province has lost a half-million dollars and more in the last six years running a hail insurance department. It is now proposed to stop Government insurance, to allow municipalities to band together and carry on a hail insurance business, and to also allow municipalities to band together and carry on a hail insurance business in the Province under strict regulation and control. The change has aroused objection in some quarters, part of it due to a misunderstanding of the situation and the intentions, and another part of it is due to the desire to cultivate political hay. The members for Okotoks on Thursday revealed the claims of those who are under the latter impulse, when he declared that he did not care if the Government did lose money. It should carry on hail insurance anyway. That kind of talk, and such as it, is not the duty of the Government to carry on hail insurance, and equally cheap insurance, what would be the justification of the Government carrying on in the business and throwing away from a hundred thousand dollars per year—money which, if not wasted in running a needless and unprofitable enterprise could be used for the building of roads and the carrying on of other public works and services? That equally good and equally cheap insurance can be got from private companies is the declaration of members of the Legislature who have investigated with thoroughness the working of company insurance in the neighboring provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The rates in these provinces are no higher than the rates which have been charged by the Government in Alberta; the companies give accommodation in the payment of premiums which the Government could not well give, and it is declared to be a fact that equally satisfactory results will follow. Not least important among these results, as worked out in the neighboring provinces is that a much larger part of the crop destroyed by hail is paid for than when the insurance is in the hands of the government. This for the common knowledge reason that a government cannot "go after" business with customers and a large advertising campaign, with the same freedom as a company. A government has to wait until the farmer comes and applies for insurance. A company goes out and persuades him to apply. The result is that while in Alberta not half the crops destroyed by hail in recent years have been insured, a much larger portion would certainly have been insured if the fact had been open to solicitors or companies and the number of farmers who have been left with little or nothing as the result of a year's work would have been correspondingly smaller.

IT WAS STONE IN THE BLADDER GIN PILLS PASSED IT

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called inflammation of the bladder—intense pain in the back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, because more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent."

In six weeks the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how weak I was, and how I am now, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me. JOHN REIDMAN, Hamilton, Ont. ## CHURCH NOTES

ST. CYPRIAN'S, ANGLICAN

A very successful life tea and sale of baking took place at the home of Mrs. C. B. Halpin on Saturday last, under the auspices of the Ladies Guild. After service on Sunday evening last it was decided to organize a branch of the Men's Society in the parish. The necessary literature, etc., for this purpose has been sent and is believed the Society will be of great assistance in the church. The Bible class will meet on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the church. The Girls' Auxiliary meets on Saturday at 3 p.m. On Sunday next the services will be as follows:

11 a.m. Morning Prayer.
12:30 p.m. Sunday School.
3 p.m. service at Ponoka.
7 p.m. evening prayer and sermon.

The clergy of the Red Deer Diocese are meeting at Stettin from Tuesday to Thursday in this week. The Rev. J. R. Robinson, who until recently was Dean of Belfast, Ireland, and who is now in charge of the Edmonton churches, will give a series of addresses.

METHODIST

Two very helpful sermons were preached in the Methodist church on Sunday last by the Rev. A. Barnes, of Red Deer. In the morning, he spoke on "The bearing and emphasis of the importance of sin in the vine." He closed his sermon by saying that the slightest grain that enters into any of the branches from the vine renders fruit worthless.

In the evening, Mr. Barnes spoke of Christ as the giver of life and expressed the surprise that some Christians feel when those who searched the scriptures for life, refused to come to him—the only source of life.

Having seen Christ's unique position, and then his claim upon them, he urged them to give themselves unreservedly to the Master's service.

The vote on Church Union will be taken next Sunday evening in the Methodist church immediately at the close of the service.

Who may Vote.

1. Members of Official Board.
2. Members of the church 18 years or over.
3. Members of the church 18 years or under.
4. Advocates of the church who are 18 years of age and regular contributors to the support of the church.

Give the matter of Church Union your thoughtful consideration during the week and so come prepared to vote on Sunday night.

The following is a copy of the ballot that will be used:

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Are you in favor of Yes No
Organic Union between the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches upon the proposed basis of Union.
(Signed).....
Voters will put a X in column, "Yes," or "No."
A Valentine social will be held in the Methodist church on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Epworth League. The young men of the church requested to bring boxes which will be brought by the young ladies of the church. Come and have a good time.

ST. ANDREW'S

The members and adherents of the church will have an opportunity of recording their votes on Church Union on the last Sunday of February and the first Sunday of March. The ladies have secured the services of the "Toronto-Ladies Quartette" for Monday, March 11th. This will be a first class entertainment. Further announcements will be made next week.

BILL TO PREVENT REAL ESTATE FRAUDS

Alberta will have the distinction of being the first to legislate for the regulation of the real estate business, says the Edmonton Bulletin, in reporting an interview with Mr. G. P. Smith in regard to his bill to regulate the operations of real estate agents.

Speaking to the Bulletin, Mr. Smith said the purpose of the act, which will be called an act to regulate the Survey, Registration and Sale of Townships and Subdivision properties, was to prevent, as far as possible, the fraud which was at present attempted by the unscrupulous members of the real estate business. In some quarters the idea of controlling real estate operations had been soured and described as an effort to legislate brains into ignorant and unthinking persons. To those who think this way, Mr. Smith would reply that the function of a government consists largely in protecting the weaker members of the community.

The bill provides that townships or subdivisions must be registered at the Land Titles Office for the district in which the land is situated, and no plan will receive a certificate of approval until all the provisions of the act have been complied with. Clause 6 of the act provides that no lots shall be offered for sale according to any townships or subdivisions until the plan has been registered. Sales according to unregistered plans shall be absolutely null and void.

Every map or plan used in subdividing land shall include a key-map and shall also bear the signature of the Alberta Land Surveyor. Sufficient topography must be shown on the map to indicate the nature of the ground and all hills, ravines, water courses and sloughs.

An important clause in the bill is designed to prevent the sale of subdivided property in any one township other than bona fide townships. It provides that the minister of Public Works shall refuse to certify any plan of a proposed subdivision which purports to be a bona fide township on any existing or proposed line of railway, unless, and until the location of the siding which is to serve the said town is definitely fixed by the proper authorities. A new township shall not include a subdivided area of more than 50 acres.

In certain well known cases extraordinarily large subdivisions have been made at the expense of the public. At Edmonton, the first divisional point on the G. T. P. west of Edmonton, where there was no less than 40,000 lots. When the land shown in the plan of a proposed subdivision is situated within the limits of any municipality or within two miles thereof the minister may require a report from the council of the municipality setting forth whether or not in their opinion the placing of the said subdivision on the market for sale is necessary and in the public interest.

An interesting feature of the bill is that no lot in any township or subdivision plan shall have less than 50 feet frontage nor a depth less than 150 feet, excepting that the depth of lots may be varied in the discretion of the minister of public works in order to make streets conform with existing streets, and further these lots cannot be subdivided. Explaining the reason for this clause Mr. Smith said that whereas the class of people who brought small lots at prices ranging from $200 to $300 could not become buyers if the lot was sold for $500, a practice had arisen of subdividing the lots and selling each half for $250, the dealer thereby getting $500 for one lot. The limits of subdivision of townships are set as follows: In cases where the proposed subdivision purports to be an annex or addition to any city or town, the population of which is less than 20,000 the plan shall not be approved unless all the lots in the subdivision are to be sold to one person. In addition to these lines there are several connecting lines which will link up the various parts of the province. The bonds are for four per cent. The standard of road is to be the same as the C. N. R. from two miles of the city boundary. A formidable list of penalties is defined for breaches of the act the maximum penalties allowed are as follows:

Using an unregistered map, $100 and costs on summary conviction before two justices of the peace, for every lot sold or offered for sale.

BOY SCOUTS DEPARTMENT

A splendid meeting was held on Wednesday evening last, and it looks as if the boys are going to show their appreciation of the Council's kindness in granting them the use of the Power Hall by turning out in full strength. Good work was done at the signalling and in body building exercises. During recess the boxing gloves had not time to cool off. If any of our readers have any gymnastic equipment lying idle, we would appreciate the opportunity of putting the same to good use.

This evening, the boys will meet at 7 p.m. in the hall.

"More bread & better bread"

The Sifton railway bill provides for opening up three extensive areas in the province. It will send railways into the rich north country of which so much has been written and spoken. That district is as large as many provinces or states and is the future home of many people. But no company has penetrated it with a railway. That country, we are informed, is rich in agricultural land and promising in mineral. It has asphaltum in enormous quantities. It has natural gas, oil and salt.

THE RAILWAY BILL

The government is sending one line through to Dunvegan, a distance of 350 miles. Two other lines are projected into the northwest of the province, known as the Peace River line, to Fort McMurray. This line will cover the district, which was planned for the ill-fated A. & G. W. road. The government, however, is guaranteeing four per cent, on $15,000 a mile, and insisting on a high standard of railway building, whereas the A. & G. W. agreement called for five per cent on $20,000 a mile, and made other concessions not granted in the present bill.

HOME RULE

Mr. and Mrs. Yeatman have moved into Clive and in the spring intend securing a lot and building a residence. Mr. and Mrs. Yeatman arrived from the south a few months ago.

August Ginger has purchased a lot in town and intends to build a residence in a short time.

Fifteen cars of timothy hay were loaded here on Friday and Saturday by Mr. Pringle and shipped to the G. T. P. construction camp in the Mountains via Edmonton.

Two cars of grain and one of hogs were shipped last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Morison, on Feb. 1st, a daughter.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher, on Feb. 6th, a daughter.

Rev. O. Creighton entertained the children in the hall on Saturday evening with a radio-phon exhibition.

The citizens have heard with delight that a G. T. P. branch is contemplated between Mirror and Lacombe. They have arrived at the conclusion that it must naturally reach its destination via Long Valley. The Board of Trade are watching their opportunity to persuade the company that the only way to secure a portion of the trade that centres here is to place their station at Clive.

The Construction department of the C. P. R. are calling for tenders for the construction of class "A" stations at several points in Alberta. Clive is one of these. The tenders close the last of this month. With the opening of the spring we hope to see the new building started, when the standard station promised will be ready at last. The class of building called for will fit Clive's wants for some time. It will contain a modern heating apparatus. The new freight sheds will provide ample accommodation for the present.

More and more we feel the great necessity of a bank at this point. It must come and come soon. While any chartered bank would be welcome, it is felt by many now that the bank which first opened business here—The Merchants' Bank—should have the preference.

Six threshing outfits have been sold here this season by Messrs. Smith and Meadows. They feel that they hold the record in this line for this year.

A party of young people from Clive and vicinity surprised Miss Madge Smith last Tuesday evening, when they wandered their way south and comfortably filled Mr. Smith's commodious residence. The evening was spent in a very pleasant and social way. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. The Chinese marriage rites as conducted by "Mac" proved very interesting to several young men. His popularity soon faded out however. After enjoying the hospitality of the Smith home the party returned much pleased with their merry outing.

The Anniversary services of the Methodist church at Clive will be held on Sunday and Monday, March 3rd and 4th. Rev. Locke, of Lacombe, will preach on the 3rd at 3 p.m., and also at 7:30 in the evening.

On Monday evening an entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid will be held. There will be several speakers to give short addresses.

We have missed the form of our merchant Mr. Brereton on the street during the week. He was informed by his physician that the longer he stayed in the house the sooner he would get out. He was very obedient and enjoyed a quiet week indoors. He is feeling quite improved in consequence.

Mr. T. Heal and family are vacating the ranch for the remainder of the winter to reside in Edmonton.

Miss Grace Guyette who has been at Clive for a year and a half is leaving Clive, much to our regret. A farewell valentine was given in her honor at the King Edward Hotel on Wednesday evening.

A Coyote Hunt In Clive District

The coyotes of this vicinity have lately been taking unwelcome liberties with the live stock of the farmers. A young heifer has been killed and sheep missing from the fold is no ordinary occurrence. It was felt that some adequate check should be put up against these unprincipled robbers.

A meeting was called on Thursday last to organize. It was not exactly an indignation meeting. The cool-headed plan adopted would indicate calm deliberation, and no doubt some anticipation of keen sport ahead entered into it also. The plan is to "round up" all the coyotes in the district. Next Saturday is the day chosen for the hunt. At 10 o'clock Captains will be chosen to lead four different campaigns. The district to be covered will be marked out. It will then closely surround all the four companies in the form of a hollow square, the men being placed equal distances apart. At a given signal they move forward and converge towards a chosen centre where there is considerable open ground. Here the dogs are to be turned loose for execution.

No guns are allowed as precautionary measure. All dogs are to be kept on leashes. Each man carries a club to beat the bushes as he goes and for use at the close of the hunt. He may walk or ride but he must cover the ground mapped out for him. Owners of good dogs from other towns and settlements have been notified of the hunt. A big crowd is expected and the hunt should be over by two o'clock.

The public are invited to join in. Now, let's say "I would like to be there at the close." Start in with the boys and drive the quarry before you. Prairie chicken and partridge are the only game exempted. So line up with the rest for next Saturday morning.

The annual meeting of the Clive Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening, February 6th in Messrs. Fulthorp's office. A good representation were present.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—A. A. Smith; Vice—President—William Morton, Jr.; Secretary—S. McNally; Treasurer—Lee Phares. The matter of car shortage was taken up and discussed at some length. It was agreed that a remonstrance should be wired to the C. P. R. Calgary office, followed up by a communication from the Board asking for a more liberal supply of cars. Word was received from Supt. Ward on Thursday that more cars would be left here and promising six for Monday of this week.

The secretary was also instructed to correspond with the Boards of Trade on the Lacombe branch to see whether discrimination was made in the supply of cars along the line. At present a shortage of cars at Clive is hindering shipping operations. The meeting adjourned to be called together by the chairman.

It is wise of the Asquith government to acquire the outline of a home rule bill to the public. It would have done it far more good had the bill been a more workable one. The first provision of it, as outlined by the "Morning Chronicle," may improve on acquisition, but, as there stated, it seems preposterous. Ireland is to have full control of customs and excise, but provision is to be made for the continuance of complete free trade with England. This would involve trading every import to its origin. It would involve such endless questions as to what might and what might not be imported from England that it would surely result in making the breach wider than ever between the two countries, and developing a stronger demand than ever for Irish commercial independence. The imposition of protective duties, which has always been a part of the agitation programme would make Ireland a dearer country to live in. But that is for herself to consider. It is not probable that Ulster would object to this as the duties imposed would be for the encouragement of manufactures, and hers in the manufacturing end of the island. It would produce corrupt governmental conditions. That is also a matter for herself, not for the Empire. But the attempt to have a separate customs system for Ireland looks like a fatally disjunctive arrangement. When we have heard about giving Ireland self-government as we have it in Canada, we have always supposed that that was a loose way of talking, and that the federal union would be more like that which prevails between Canada and the United States. But British Columbia with her own customs system, admitting or shutting out from abroad whatever she chose. How long would the country hold together?

Another unpalatable evil associated with this system of governance is that Irish self-government ought to have been a model for a general federation of the United Kingdom. This would have been a very natural and desirable outcome. Ireland a separate overseas dominion. Unless Mr. Churchill is able in his already celebrated Belfast speech to make this matter look better than it looks in outline, we cannot expect to see the Asquith Government carry this measure. We have heard a good deal about possible Unionist protectionism, but this is disjunctive protectionism. Forunately this government has accomplished a very unusual amount of reformative one might almost call it revolutionary legislation, upon which no later government can go back. Among its achievements there are the pensions act, the Lords veto act, the territorial defence act, the unpaired increment tax, and the transformation of India. Of major measures there remain only home rule and Welsh self-government. The reaction is sure to come, and the Irish leaders have exacted the impossible as the price of their adhesion, it might be just as well that the government should suffer defeat on an impossible measure.

With the big bonus Great Britain proposes to pay to Ireland for ten years we have no fault to find, except with the illusory provision that it would end in ten years and Ireland begin to pay into the Imperial exchequer. The government in Ireland that would pay that obligation or the Government in Great Britain that would collect it would be clever. On the contrary, there would be a never-ending demand for "better terms," such as we know about in Canada. So long as Ireland is getting ten million dollars a year from the Imperial exchequer she will be attacked enough when it comes to paying her she will have her independence shatters as we are beginning to have in Canada. We are not told how the new model unionist is to be elected or appointed. It would have been under the circumstances most interesting to have known how that was going to be done. The other provisions all make for union—the Irish parliament to have no control over defense or coinage or for twelve years over the constabulary, and to be forbidden to interfere in any way with religion. We have no doubt that the utmost powers of state must have been expended on finding terms that would be acceptable both to Ireland and to Great Britain. The exacting dominance of Ireland in the negotiations is apparent in the result. The question is whether the United Kingdom can be got to adopt so disjunctive a measure. We fear we are much farther from a happy solution than we had hoped.—The Witness.

SPELLING

The London Times, the last paper from whose traditions it could be looked for, has commented the Nova Scotia Department of Education on having practically adopted in its Normal School the simplified spelling. The London Journal of Education, on the other hand, ridicules the proceeding, and says it is wonderful how many papers urge other papers to adopt it. To do so, the Journal adds, would ruin the Times in a month. Surely it would as the Times has lived for long generations on the support of the philistine element in British society whose one faith is in the text that everything British is right, and who would think that England, dear old England was going down the hill if she should drop the use of her honour. It is true, however, that a number of publications, popular among the better class in the United States, have adopted the simplified spelling as far as it has been urged by the Simplified Spelling Society, without, so far as we know, any loss of favor, or should we have said labour, for that is the way the English papers still spell it.

Our objection to this simplified spelling crusade is not that it is not right. It is eminently in the right direction. All the changes that have been yet set afoot have indeed been returns to usages that were current before Dr. Johnson set his heavy stamp of authority on countless abnormalities. Before his day there was a rule of English spelling, Shakespeare and Oliver Cromwell spelt the same word in a variety of ways, and we of this generation should surely be free to choose the one which best represents the words as we speak them.

We regard these simplified spellers as engaged in a great campaign, if only their assertion of freedom from one of the most unfounded despotisms that ever shackled a great race. Once remove the sacredness of the Johnson spell, or rather of its present offspring, and the whole structure must fall. English people, accustomed to the grotesque collocations of letters by which they arbitrarily represent their words, do not realize, and they are dead refuse to see that in the stealing a year or so from the life of every one who has to acquire their written language, whether as an infant, after learning to speak it, or as a foreigner while learning to speak it. To the Chinaman it is not quite as bad as it is to the Englishman to learn the Chinese language, who has to learn the individual sign for every word with no guidance at all from its form. The spelling of our Latin words gives a good indication of how we pronounce them, though we do not pronounce as the Latins did, but that of our common Saxon words is chaotic. The same spelling represents half a dozen different sounds, and the same sound is represented by half a dozen different combinations of letters.

What this movement is at fault is that, by the process adopted, it would take centuries to emancipate the language, making continuous war against continuous prejudice. What is wanted is a completely phonetic spelling such as was adopted for Italy by the Academia della Crusca; such as Spain adopted for her language two centuries later, such as came into Germany in Luther's time. Any one who can compare the pronunciation can learn to read one of those languages in a few hours. Indeed, there are few intellectual exercises in which one gains so much knowledge at such small cost. It should be a part of every high school course. But he who would read English has to learn every English word separately. There is no measuring the extent of the handicap which this disability puts on the dominance of the English tongue and the influence of the Anglo-Saxon ideas. We learn from China that the Republic proposes that English be taught in the Chinese schools. If President Sun wants to confer the greatest possible educational boon on his own people, and if he is not averse to making the greatest possible gift to the English race, he will appoint a commission to establish a phonetic spelling of the English language. Once in use anywhere, such a spelling would necessarily spread, so great would be the advantage of it.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

John McKenty Elected President for the Current Year.

The annual meeting of the Lacombe Board of Trade was held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening last, and was well attended by business men and others. After the reading of the minutes president Peterson presented the annual report of the Council to the Board as follows:

Members of the Lacombe Board of Trade:

President—John McKenty.
Vice-President—E. J. Quirk.
Secretary—John McKenty.
Treasurer—E. J. Quirk.
Councillors—Messrs. James Fraser, R. H. Inglis, W. L. Elliott, E. Peterson, D. G. Gourlay, A. Urquhart, A. Baker, N. W. Morrison.

The standing committee for the year was elected as follows: Good Roads Committee—Messrs. Inglis, Elliott and Gourlay. Publicity Committee—Messrs. A. Urquhart, N. W. Morrison, E. J. Quirk.

Membership Committee—Messrs. McKenty, Wilson and Quirk.

It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that strenuous efforts be made this year to place the advantages of the Lacombe district before the world at large, and with the many energetic men who fill the offices there is no doubt that the wishes of the board will be realized.

The retiring officers were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their work in the past, to which President McKenty replied in a few appropriate remarks.

Mr. McKenty, the 1912 president has served on the board in the capacity of secretary, but by the action of the board he will be in good hands for 1912.

Before adjourning the secretary was instructed to write to the Quaker Oats people, who are located in the west and lay the claims of Lacombe before them.

The lack of hotel accommodation called attention to by your council has been supplied by the erection of the Hotel Winnipeg during the year.

The negro immigration into Alberta was strongly condemned by your council and a strong resolution against it was forwarded to the Minister of the Interior at Ottawa, which we trust may assist in reducing the number of undesirable immigrants to this province.

Delegates from the Central Alberta Development League strongly urged your council to unite with this organization, but owing to lack of funds it was impossible to do so.

Deliberations relative to the necessity of a new Government-owned post office at Lacombe was passed and the wardens to the Post Master General at Ottawa, with the result that the post office inspector visited this town to arrange for a better post office building but so far it has not been materialized.

With a view to keeping the roads in the vicinity of the town passable your council has made liberal grants during the year.

The attention of your council has been called to the need of an annual sports day for the town. This is a matter that requires the attention of the council for 1912.

Your council appointed a committee composed of Mr. Hutton and myself to see the conjunction with the mayor of Lacombe regarding the entertainment of the British Editors upon their visit to the town. It was arranged that the party be divided and one half be taken east and the other half west in motor cars kindly lent for the occasion by several of our enterprising townsmen, thus giving them an opportunity to see a little of our surrounding country so that they might form some small idea of the wonderful resources we have. This program, unfortunately, had to be abandoned owing to the inclement weather. However the editors were taken around the town and to the Experimental farm, where Mr. Hutton gave them a short but very instructive lecture illustrating the same with charts and specimens and leaving them greatly impressed by the quality and quantity of the produce grown in the neighborhood. Several of the party desired photos and these were supplied them with a lavish hand.

The Editors were then conducted back to their cars and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and a certain amount of shopping, some of the Editors getting several fine specimens of Indian bead work. At five thirty the Editors were again called forth to attend a banquet given in their honor by about eighteen of the prominent citizens of Lacombe, who were well repaid by the numerous witty and humorous speeches of the guests. Numerous toasts were drunk and in spite of the unpropitious weather we have no doubt that the Editors will remember Lacombe as one of the bright spots in their tour.

In conclusion I might say that in all things pertaining to the welfare of your town and district, the council have taken a deep interest and where ever stead of the six that has been the city's representation for 40 years. As the rural districts are essentially conservative and the urban more liberal and democratic, the result has heretofore been that the Right has nearly always had a majority, while the majority of the German electorate are in sympathy with the Left.

The immense gains made by the Socialists, highly significant as they are, do not necessarily mean danger to the government. The Government does not depend upon the Reichstag, but on the Emperor, and as long as it enjoys his confidence, its position is unassailable. Theoretically the Reichstag has considerable authority, but in reality that authority is largely restricted. It cannot dismiss a minister, for the Ministry is responsible to the Kaiser alone. It cannot initiate or control a policy, and at any time the Chancellor, with the consent of the Bundesrath, can dismiss it.

The Bundesrath is the Upper House of the German Imperial Legislature; its members are appointed by the governors of the various states constituting the Empire.

Even in questions of finance the authority of the Reichstag is limited. Nominally its consent is required for the budget and loans, but, if it declines to pass the budget, nothing revolutionary would necessarily follow. An important factor is the fact that the Socialists, and would continue to be collected. Other acts, determining the strength of the army and navy, and the appropriations for military and naval purposes extending over a given period as they do, work almost automatically.

The fact is that the real power in the German Empire is exercised, not by the Parliament, but by the Kaiser, who, in his interests and purposes, will act as an autocrat. At the same time, the will of the people must be the ultimate source of authority. And that in these days, history is being made in Germany in the direction of bringing that Empire more in line with the great world movement of democracy, is not to be doubted.

It is in announcing the defeat at Marburg, one of the leading Conservatives, mentioned the declaration he made about a year ago, that the Emperor must be at the head of the state, and to the lieutenant, these ten men and dissolve the Reichstag.

The resentment provoked by the declaration is said to have brought about the resignation of the Emperor's minister of the interior, and the popular opinion in Germany is being aroused to the pressing need of a democratic, progressive, and more representative system of government.

A Cattle Buyer In the Toils

STETTLER, February 12—Another arrest has been made in the cattle stealing cases: L. B. Ketchum, the cattle buyer from Calgary, who bought the twenty-five head of cattle claimed to be the property of A. E. and F. E. Auger from the Finlander, John Wartown, was arrested here last night and looked up. There are now three men lying in the Stettler jail charged with theft of cattle awaiting preliminary hearing. They are Wartown, Ketchum and Fred Summerton.

They were arraigned before David Mitchell, J. P. last night by Sgt. McBrayne, of the R. N. W. M. P., of this station, when formal charge was made against the three men. Wartown and Ketchum's hearing was arranged for Monday afternoon next and hearing on Fred Summerton's case begins this morning at 10 o'clock. Summerton is the man who was sent up to jail a few days ago for 60 days for stealing wheat. He is now charged with stealing 3 head of unfandred cattle from Mr. Nitel, south of here.

Wartown was sent up a week ago for a day or two to await preliminary hearing on the charge of stealing the 25 head of cattle from Augers.

Summerton and Wartown were brought back here from the Fort yesterday, as it was expected that their trials would be started at once. Ketchum came up from Calgary presumably to act as chief crown witness against Wartown as he was the man who bought the cattle, and had in his possession a bill of sale for the cattle in question, also the paid check which he had given in payment. But the police had another card up their sleeve, and sprung the little surprise on the people here when it was known that the cattle buyer was under arrest.

The police believe they have a strong case against Ketchum as well as the others. This is evidenced by the fact that when

PROBLEMS IN SHEEP BREEDING

To the average farmer the subject of sheep breeding is one at which he immediately shies. He has never been in the business of breeding sheep or has gone at it without knowing anything of the business and failed. There is probably no branch of farming that presents such problems as does sheep breeding. Yet there is no one branch that will return money so easily from the odds and ends, you might say, of the farm crops.

Aside from the waste foods, both grains and grasses, that the sheep consumes it gets the farmer a double profit annually—a profit from the lamb crop and another from the wool crop. This last profit is one that is hit by the tariff laws to such an extent that many breeders refuse to raise sheep at all, claiming the tariff will not allow a profit on the wool. This neglect is for each individual sheep raiser and wool grower to figure out for himself.

Practically all the breeds ordinarily met with on the American farm come from England originally, and the environment they encounter here is more or less artificial. The undomesticated sheep is a mountain dweller and in his native haunts was allowed to roam over a great deal of ground. On the average farm a small pasture is fenced off and the sheep expected to be confined here the entire year, with the exception of the time when they are in the stables.

A frequent change of pasture is therefore a necessity to successful sheep breeding. Once a pasture is infected with a disease the flocks grazing over it get the disease worse each season and the best way to clean up the field is to plow it up and put in a crop. Where the fences are all sheep-tight on a farm the sheep can be shifted about from field to field, covering the entire farm during the course of the year. In a new country, however, the farmer has trouble enough to fence one field in this manner, and the cost of fencing is one of the first things that keeps him from branching out into sheep.

Where the farmer is able to furnish the right kind of feed and give plenty of range the sheep will consume more in proportion to their size and produce more in proportion to feed consumed than any of the large or farm animals. Sheep will give the best returns where their native environment is duplicated as nearly as possible or improved upon. Hilley or rolling land that is dry, plenty of range and grain added comes near filling the bill.

St. Cyprian's Guild

There will be a special meeting of St. Cyprian's Women's Guild at the residence of Mrs. W. L. Elliott on Friday evening next, at 8 o'clock.

We take this opportunity of thanking you for your kind patronage in the past, and as our two stores will continue under the same management we hope to be able to serve you equally as well in the future, and respectfully ask you to put this statement to the test at every opportunity.

As our partnership books have to be balanced by March 1st it is compulsory for us to have all our outstanding accounts settled by that date, and to aid this end we offer a special discount of 5 per cent. on all accounts paid on or before March 1st.

News is very scarce in this district just now.

Over a month of the finest winter weather, without any zero weather, is one thing that we Albertans are proud of. We certainly have it all over the States in this line this winter.

The Bentley Florence Nightingale Brigade held their usual meeting last Tuesday evening. They practiced some new songs and discussed the program for the entertainment. No big. The was excused for the mistake of last writing. The entertainment will be held on March 1st. Mr. Thompson addressed the Brigade on etiquette, which was warmly accepted by all. The monthly committee were appointed. The president asked the girls to bring a yell, and we hope to establish a good yell next meeting.

A very pretty wedding took place last Thursday at 12 a.m., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Bunch, when their eldest daughter, Nellie Eletha was joined in marriage to R. I.
